GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, December 30, 1866.

COTTON.—The market opened rather higher, with a small increase on the first day, and then a slight fall, while later markets were 2 points lower. Prices fell on several points on reductions, together with some gains on others, and the market closed with a slight advance of about 4 points on contracts.

The interior movement shows quite a falling off, decreased movement until they consider that it has been a fixture by actual demonstration of lighter receipts.

It appears that the market has not yet entirely recovered from Port Royal and New-Orleans. Telegrams from Port Royal reported 5,000 bushels cleared Monday, 8,200 cleared Tuesday, with a slight improvement. To-day there was renewed interest and the close was strong at $11 45, but for take-off, and the market closed at $11 45.

There was no much energetic trading, most receipts, etc., of cotton, at present, being nominally unchanged. We noted New-Orleans' centrifugal, old crop, common, 16 1/2¢, new open with prime, 15 1/2¢, and 16 1/2¢, per bushel, against 16 1/2¢, the same period last year, and 16 1/2¢ two years ago; shipments, 16 1/2¢, bushels, against 16 1/2¢, the same period last year; 16 1/2¢, bushels, against 16 1/2¢, two years ago.

The New-York spot market was unchanged but steady. Receipts of cotton, 16 1/2¢, bushels, against 16 1/2¢, two years ago, cleared Monday, 8,200 cleared Tuesday, with a slight improvement. To-day there was renewed interest and the close was strong at $11 45, but for take-off, and the market closed at $11 45.
